HENRY PURCELL

1659-1695

A PRELIMINARY BIBLIOGRAPHY

Compiled by students of the Department of Library Science, Kent State University, and edited by Jerry L. Grim, III.

This preliminary bibliography was prepared for distribution at the Symposium on the Music of Henry Purcell, May 28, 1966, at the Kansas City, Missouri, Public Library.

The members of the Symposium are indebted to Guy A. Marco, Chairman of the Department of Library Science, Kent State University, the students of "Library Science 480," and to the editor, Jerry L. Grim, III.

PREFACE

This preliminary bibliography has been compiled by the members of "Library Science *480," Music Bibliography, a course offered to students of both music research and of music librarianship at Kent State University, Kent, Ohio. Members of the class were: Ruth C. Main, Kenneth R. Brenneman, Jerry L. Grim III, David S. Harris, William Moon, and Wayne C. Wentzel, advised by Dr. Guy A. Marco, Chairman, Department of Library Science, instructor in the course.

Principal sources consulted were:

Indexes to major musical journals.

In addition to published sources, the card catalogs of Kent State University Library, Cleveland Public Library, University of Chicago Library, and the Library of Congress were searched. We are indebted to Fred Blum, Music Division of the Library of Congress, for checking the various catalogs and indexes in that division, and for sending us several items of interest.

Categories excluded from the bibliography were most general popular histories, general biographical collections, books of opera plots, standard encyclopedias, and incomplete or doubtful references. Categories used in Section II were largely those of Zimmerman in his thematic catalog.

It is hoped that the scholars for whom this work is intended will submit to the Editor (undersigned) additions and corrections to this list so that a final Bibliography may be published soon. Contributions may be sent to the Editor, Library School, Kent State University, Kent, Ohio, 44240.

Acknowledgements are extended to the various class members, relatives, and library staff members who assisted in this compilation.
